MENSTRUAL CARE

Key Data Findings
2024 Developments
Consumers pressured by a higher cost of living prioritise products with greater absorption
The category, while still emerging, remains highly concentrated, while lower-priced brands are beginning to emerge
Salvadorans become more willing to diversify their retail choices
Prospects and Opportunities
Changes in generational habits have the potential to impact the menstrual care category
Digital platforms continue to be used more for informational purposes than for making purchases
Menstrual care aims for a holistic approach

NAPPIES/DIAPERS/PANTS

Key Data Findings
2024 Developments
Demographic changes impact the nappies/diapers/pants category
Leading brands focus on highlighting improved absorption quality in the face of increasing pressure from lower-priced brands
Parents under pressure from higher living costs more likely to diversify their shopping locations
Prospects and Opportunities
Conservative outlook for nappies/diapers/pants in a scenario of slowing population growth
Slow process of digital omnichannel in nappies/diapers/pants
Salvadoran parents become more aware of dermatological ingredients

RETAIL ADULT INCONTINENCE

Key Data Findings

2024 Developments

Demand for incontinence products is growing as taboos around their use are lessened

The category shows a high level of concentration, although with a growing offer of lower-priced brands

Retail adult incontinence continues to expand its distribution coverage

Prospects and Opportunities

Salvadorans are increasingly open to using incontinence products

A higher level of democratisation of incontinence products is expected

Adult incontinence increases its offer with a higher level of micro-segmentation

WIPES

Key Data Findings

2024 Developments

Multifunctionality, an ally of growth in demand for wipes

Expansion of affordable options expands the category to new consumer groups

Supermarkets, although still the most important channel for wipes sales, are beginning to lose ground

Prospects and Opportunities

Versatility of use and practicality of wipes in line with the new hygiene habits of Salvadorans

Supermarkets strengthen their positioning through expansion of their private label products

Growing range of wipes for more personalised needs

RETAIL TISSUE

Key Data Findings

2024 Developments

Despite greater price stability, retail demand for tissue continues to commoditise

In terms of toilet paper, consumers adopt a "bigger is better" approach

In times of economic challenges, the traditional channel grows in relevance

Prospects and Opportunities

Toilet paper is a mature category, while paper towels is expanding in popularity due to the adoption of new habits

The dynamism of distribution channels is determined by price rather than by brand loyalty strategies

Successes of tissue product innovations are conditioned by a highly price-sensitive consumer base

AWAY-FROM-HOME TISSUE AND HYGIENE

Key Data Findings

2024 Developments

Away-from-home tissue benefits from the dynamism of the hospitality and restaurant sectors

Distribution of away-from-home incontinence products remains limited in El Salvador

The industry aims to provide cost-effective solutions while highlighting the importance of hygiene in public spaces

Prospects and Opportunities

The tourism and restaurant sectors continue to show strong momentum in 2025

Retail e-commerce purchases are still not common practice among Salvadoran institutions

Green solutions become more popular driven by the environmental policies of public and private institutions
