

Sauces, Dips and Condiments Packaging in South Korea

September 2025

KEY DATA FINDINGS

2024 DEVELOPMENTS

Sauces, dips and condiments packaging continues its multi-year decline in South Korea, although certain pack types perform well. Flexible plastic and dual-bottom plastic pouches are emerging as convenient, low-waste solutions for sauces packaging in South Korea. Larger pack sizes gain momentum in sauces, dips and condiments as value-conscious consumers seek extended usability.

PROSPECTS AND OPPORTUNITIES

Pickled products and chili sauces expected to lift packaging volumes marginally, despite fall for traditional products. Aluminium/plastic pouches expected to grow for pickled products, while glass bottles likely to retain appeal for premium sauces.
